ASCENZA is a global crop protection solutions provider in the differentiated generics segment, with over 50 years of history, taking care of plants, people, and the planet.

Leading this segment in the Iberian Peninsula, we currently employ over 600 people, and we are present in 10 countries, supplying the Southern European, Brazilian and Mexican markets with conventional and bio-protection products through the Blexia line.

As part of the international Rovensa Group, at ASCENZA we aim to contribute to one of the greatest challenges: to ensure that all people have a healthy and affordable diet, with no impact on the environmental balance. We daily strive to find the best solutions to our farmers and distributors, so that, together, we can successfully meet this challenge.

ASCENZA, Farming Your Future.
